

Dear Fellow Nevada Republican,

It is my pleasure to invite you to Carson City for the 2019 Nevada Republican Central Committee Spring Meeting on April 27, 2019. I am excited for the committee to get to work and build off our 2018 foundation. Thanks to our tireless work last year, we are in the best position we have ever been.

We built the largest operation in the Nevada Republican Party's history – with record-breaking fundraising, knocking on over 1.5 million doors, making over 1 million phone calls, assembling the largest staff we've ever had, and cutting the Democrats' voter registration advantage by 20 percent.

Because of the infrastructure we built last cycle, we have been able to put ourselves in the strongest position moving forward. We had a historic amount of money in our accounts going into an off year, allowing us to retain some of our key staff members rather than laying off every single employee after the election. We have been organizing opposition to every terrible Democrat proposal in Carson City, and getting our message out across a multitude of media platforms.

I am optimistic for what is to come.

And with the commitment of the RNC and President Trump's re-election campaign, which in 2020 are operating as one and the same unit for the election and our field operations, we are poised to continue getting stronger. In addition to Nevada's Chris Carr as the President's Political Director, I am excited to announce Nevada's own Jeremy Hughes has been named the Western Regional Director for the RNC.

With Nevadans in key positions with the campaign and at the RNC, and the strong relationships we have with RNC Chairwoman Ronna McDaniel, Co-Chair Tommy Hicks, and longtime Trump advisors such as Corey Lewandowski and David Bossie, to name just a few, we have a very strong voice within the President's campaign. I can't wait to work with my friends on this team to ensure we give President Trump and his agenda four more years in the White House.

The resources that will help us deliver Nevada for Donald Trump are the same ones we need to do the equally important work of taking back targeted seats in our Senate and Assembly here in Nevada, and to hopefully regain some of our representatives in Congress. As we watch the truly terrible legislation being advanced in Carson City and Washington DC, it only makes it more clear that we must win from the top of the ballot all the way down.

But while a strong team is a necessity, we will only win in 2020 if we are unified.

As I traveled the state on the Lincoln Day circuit this year, I have been inspired by the Nevada Republicans I've met. They know that we are facing opposition from Democrat politicians and the liberal media, and that the only way to defeat our enemies is to unify around the common goal of victory in 2020.

Attached is all the information that you need for the Spring meeting, including times and locations, tentative agenda, and lodging info. If you have any questions, please contact us at info@nevadagop.org. Also, please join us on Friday, April 26 for a day at the Legislature, and a cocktail party for the Sagebrush Caucus that evening.

Thank you for all you do. I look forward to seeing you in Carson City!

Sincerely,

Michael J. McDonald
Chairman, Nevada Republican Party
